

253.

Written by News Administrator

Monday, 23 July 2018 17:35 - Last Updated Monday, 23 July 2018 17:36

If we just see impermanence from the perspective of the self there is only suffering.

If we put the self to one side, the ground of this time being extends in all directions.

It flows from the past to the present, from the present to the present, from the present to the past.

Likewise the Dharma